Bena talks about giving babies choices about what to do. Do children in your centre have opportunities to choose and decide? How could you give them more choice?

2

The National Quality Standard 5.1.1 states that in a high quality early learning environment, interactions with each child are warm and responsive and build trusting relationships. How do you do this? What more could you do?

3

Babies in the sandpit have lots of interesting things to play with, many of which come from home. Do your children have access to interesting objects? Could you refresh and update the materials available in your centre?

4

By being in the sandpit together and playing alongside each other, what are the babies learning about relationships? Do your children have chances to interact as well as times and spaces to be alone?
